Come back! come back!
For the light went out
When your eyes looked away from my own;
Grieved and weary I wander about,
In the cold and dark alone,
Trying to find my way to your side.
Come, darling, and take my hand!
Once I drew it away, in my pride. Once I drew it away, in my pride, From the tenderest one in the land

Come back! come back! Come back! come back!
With the spring's sweet prime—
With the birds from over the sea;
For I turn my face from the golden time,
And my eyes from its melody,
For my passionate soul cries out for the day
Ere your heart fell away from mine;
Cries out for the cup that I pushed away,
Spilling its golden wine.

Come! and your kiss shall kindle again
The passion bloom of my check;
Come! and read in my cyes the pain
That my lips are too proud to speak;
Come! for I lie in the cold without,
Thrilled with agony wild—
All for you, and my soul cried out
Like a poor little motherless child,

The stock, proving to be lighter than was generally anticipated, brought on orders, chiefly for small amounts, but in the aggregate folt up well, any it has made considerable impression on stocks, and holders succeeded in establishing the large advance now asked. GET THE BEST!

BEST TIE IN USE.

It has been thoroughly tested in different sections of the South, and its superior merits freely acknowledged by all who have tried it. In fact its popularity has become so great as to warrant us in the assertion that it is destined to become THE UNIVERSAL FAVORITE. This TIE: combines ease and simplicity of adjustment with undoubted strength and durability. We particularly invite the attention of PLANTERS, PRESSMEN and dealers generally to the following points: The perfect construction of the Hinge and rounded edges of the Buckle secure the entire strength of the Band, and give it great advantages in compressing. It has no Tongues to press against the Band—does not require any Pins to be slipped in, pulled out or to FALL out; and is used without the troublesome operation of bending or looping the Band. The manner in which it works is easily understood from the cut. Each Tie is complete in itself—the Buckle being riveted to the Band; and no part can be ost. The simple process of running the Band into the Buckle and letting it go at the proper place is all that is necessary, the fastening being perfected the moment the pressure of the cotton is brought to bear on the Bands. The Backle is strong, compact and small, presenting an even surface, has no rough edges or protruding points, consequently sinks even with the cotton and obviates the great objection to other Ties, which are wrenched apart when the buckles of different bales get caught in handling or transportation, and especially when bales are piled on each other.
